

R&D experts, Theratechnologies, appoint SOLABS

“The ability to leverage the interfaces between GLP, GCP and GMP has always been a company strength”, stated Richard Fecteau, President & CEO of SOLABS. “Since time-to-market adds significant value to products, any time-saving that can be made in this vital R&D phase, pays big dividends.” This was just one of the stated reasons why Theratechnologies, a key biopharmaceutical company, chose SOLABS GxP to handle their document and workflow management. The passage of data from one paradigm to another often wastes valuable time and is a source of errors. The consistency of platform between SOLABS GMP, GLP and GCP creates an interface for seamless transmission. The ability to audit progress and compliance in real-time is also valuable.

“Our objective was to streamline and automate a number of key processes, such as protocols, study reports, quality processes and training records” said Ms Nadine Bouchard, Director of Compliance and Associate, Regulatory Affairs. SOLABS was able to bring to us a schedule that was consistent with our objectives. Their knowledge of the GxP environment meant that we could start work almost immediately”.

Theratechnologies (TSX: TH) is a Canadian biopharmaceutical company that discovers or acquires novel therapeutic products for development and commercialization. These products target unmet medical needs in commercially attractive specialty markets. The most advanced program is TH9507 in Phase 3 clinical development in HIV-associated lipodystrophy. The Company also has other promising projects at various stages of development.

SOLABS is a practice-based solution company for GxP documents, workflow and records management. It operates a “Software as a Service” (SaaS) business model providing knowledge, best practice, consulting and IT solutions dedicated to the GxP regulated life sciences environment at all points along the drug development lifecycle. SOLABS provides a web-based platform and is able to provide global support through its network of partners, collaborators and distributors. SOLABS helps clients to recognize GxP regulatory compliance as a strategic advantage. SOLABS GxP solutions bring benefits through quickly implementing corporate solutions and cementing process workflow learnings across organisations. In a typical installation SOLABS GxP has achieved 100% labour-reduction for hard copy management (which corresponds to a 60%-80% overall reduction for GxP document management costs) and >95% cycle time reduction for physical workflow. This is complemented by full-automated traceability, real-time visibility and reduction in errors and lost documents.
